To Our Finishers

"After looking forward to something for so long, sometimes a person can be let down that an event didn't live up to unrealistic expectations..." began a post-race note from Kimberly from New Braunfels, Texas. Most comments we get about race weekend are very positive. Others offer helpful tips and suggestions.

In the case of the letter referenced above, Kimberly went on to write, "Big Sur was a fairy-tale day for me. It was everything I had hoped it would be and more. I didn't want it to end."

We are humbled by your praise and carefully review each comment, whether critical or positive, for its applicability. For example, based on several comments last year, we asked our portable toilet vendor this year to supply each unit—close to 400 total—with hand sanitizer and extra paper. Hopefully you each appreciated the improvement.

Even though our race is already considered one of the best organized in the country, we are constantly striving to improve the experience for participants, volunteers, and the community. There were more than 65 enhancements this year alone. Some of these improvements were clearly noticeable like the participant name banner at the expo and better-fitting participant shirts; others were behind the scenes and affected only one or two race committee members or a handful of volunteers. We respect the effort you put into registering, training, traveling, and participating in our event. We want our event to be everything you hope for and more.

As you have likely read or heard, to better accommodate the strong demand, we altered our registration procedure for the 2016 Marathon and changed the registration opening date for our other race distances. For 2016 registration details, please see page 7.

On behalf of our 100-plus strong volunteer race board/committee, our 2,000-plus individual volunteers from more than 70 community groups, our sponsors, and our host communities, without whose efforts our events would not be possible, thank you for your participation.

Big Sur Marathon Wraps Up 30 Years

Thirty years ago, Monterey County judge Bill Burleigh realized his dream of organizing a "footrace" from Big Sur to Carmel, a distance equal to a 26.2 mile marathon.

Eighteen hundred runners lined up under Big Sur's redwoods on the last Sunday in April 1986 and established a legacy that has made the Big Sur International Marathon one of the top destination races in the world.

The race has grown in size and stature over the course of three decades. Though the marathon field is capped due to space at the start, a variety of distance events have been added over the years. From a 5K to events of 9, 10.6 and 21 miles plus a marathon relay, Big Sur races attract over 9,000 walkers and runners from all 50 states and more than 30 countries. This year, for the first-time ever, all events sold out.

Runners in the marathon typically have two natural elements to battle – the 16 major hills along the rural, coastal route and the relentless headwinds coming off the ocean. This year's race was no exception, with strong winds greeting runners between miles five to 20. But the challenges of the course were eclipsed by the beautiful day and nearly flawless execution of the 30th presentation.

In the men's competition, defending champion Michael Wardian of Arlington, VA, battled shoulder to shoulder with two-time winner Adam Roach of Monterey, CA, for most of the race. Roach tucked behind Wardian for a wind break along much of the course and made a strong move at mile 23 to break the tape at 2:30:48. Wardian, who had run the Boston Marathon six days prior, clocked in at 2:33:04. At 41 years old, Wardian was the Masters Division winner and also won the Boston 2 Big Sur title for the second year in a row.

The women's race was won by Malia Crouse of Edgemont, CO in a time of 2:57:02. Big Sur was only her third marathon and she too commented on the strong winds, but added that "the course was gorgeous...that's the whole reason I signed up in the first place." Christine Taranto, 30, a member of the US. Marine Corps Elite Athlete program currently attending the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, finished a strong second at 2:59:34.

Among the marathoners running were almost 400 in the Boston 2 Big Sur Challenge; they ran the Boston Marathon six days earlier. Another 300 marathoners took part in the Runner's World Challenge, which offers personalized training and a VIP experience.

Changes made for this year's marathon event included dropping from a five to a four-person relay and a course rerouting of the 9-Miler and 5K distances to allow for safety and better separation of runners. Stronger emphasis was placed on social media with videos, photos and more messaging to runners via Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. Race participants were delighted to find their names on a 5.5 x 11 foot banner, and quick to post selfies to share with their friends.

"The 30th Big Sur International Marathon was another amazing event," said race director Doug Thurston. "The support of the community as volunteers, spectators, sponsors and participants was truly incredible."

Race founder Bill Burleigh, now retired and enjoying the Big Sur lifestyle, sounded the start horn in Big Sur and was on hand throughout the week to reminisce about the past 30 years of the "footrace" he started. A photographic retrospective illustrated 30 years of the Big Sur International Marathon in the gallery of the Monterey Conference Center throughout race weekend.

OUR GREENING EFFORTS

The Big Sur International Marathon continues to work hard to reduce our environmental impact. Attention was given to the types of products purchased for the event and showcased through the Expo vendors. No trash cans were placed on the course or at the finish; everything was diverted through recycling, composting or upcycling. 39 bags (approximately 2,555 lbs.) of clothing were donated as well as 5,550 lbs. of leftover food. Six bags of heat sheets were collected for the Blankets to Boards program. A total 96% of waste was diverted, recycled or repurposed this year..

Race Demographics

Our overall registration numbers produced 13,400 registered participants in all events and 200 4-person relay teams. 61% of our entrants (for all events excluding 3K) are female and 39% male; for the marathon, 50% are male and 50% female. 95% have college or graduate school degrees, 77% have household incomes of $75K or more, and 63% are in professional, managerial or administrative occupations. All 50 states were represented plus 30 other countries. 57% of our participants are from California, followed by Texas, Illinois, New York, Florida, Washington, Colorado, Arizona, Ohio and Virginia. Foreign participants numbered 516.

For the marathon, 36% were in the 30-39 age group, followed by 28% in 40-49, 16% in 50 - 59, 14% in 20-29 and 5% in 60-69. We had 8 entrants age 16 - 19, and 27 that were over age 70.

When asked how they learned about our race, 74% of entrants answered from a friend or family member or because they were past participants; 7% saw our ads in a magazine or on the internet; 9% via a website; and 10% at an expo at another race, through social media or other.

For 78%, this was their first ever Big Sur Marathon and 16% ran their first ever marathon; 16% have run from 1 to 28 prior Big Surs and 14 individuals have run all 30 Big Sur Marathons. Approximately 5% ran for a charity that chose Big Sur as their goal race.

Some of your comments on our events:

"Grand slam! The whole weekend was exceptional. In a nutshell the organizers have done their homework and due diligence and the volunteers were incredible! The green efforts, the fresh fruit at the water stations, and the entertainment were all above expectations."

"This race truly feels like a grassroots, local race rather than the massive undertaking that it is - and that's a good thing!"

"You are a SUPER class act every year...both with the marathon and the half in November. I am from Santa Cruz and am jaded by seeing our coastal beauty every day. Your race and all of your happy, well-taken-care-of, out-of-town athletes running in awe of the scenery reminds me how lucky I am to live here. Thank you for the tremendous amount of time and attention to the overwhelming logistics required to pull this marathon off year after year!"

"That was the first time I have worn a bib since being an infant. I hope to wear one again next year at this time!"

"And the finisher's "medal" is SO Californian it makes me smile every time I look at it -- which I do often!"

"The feeling of having done the impossible, of hanging in there, despite what pain or suffering we may be going through, is priceless."

Prepping for an Ultra

Iain Jones of Irvine, CA ran a respectable 3:52:12 on Big Sur Marathon Sunday, but the time is only reflective of 26.2 miles, not the additional 11 he ran before the race started. Jones was using Big Sur as a prep for his training to compete in the grueling Comrades ultramarathon in South Africa, a feat which he accomplished on May 30th. More importantly, Jones was raising money for World Vision's efforts to bring clean water to communities throughout Africa and "blew past" his goal of $30,000. Considering that it costs only $50 to provide clean water for life, his efforts will impact more than 600 people.

Age Grouper Overcomes Cancer
After the 2011 Big Sur Marathon Peter Jones realized the pain he had experienced during the race was due to undiagnosed bladder cancer. Radical surgery was followed by chemotherapy and Peter thought his running days were over. However, he gradually resumed training with his artificial bladder and completed nine half marathons in the past two years. Peter returned to Big Sur this year to try and place first in his age group, a title that had previously eluded him. Unfortunately he didn't achieve his goal, but says, "Luckily the journey is more important than the destination. I missed first place by just two minutes. That's just enough to inspire me to come back for more. My biggest challenge will be getting an entry!"

"I have to say that this was the most gorgeous marathon I have done (#21) and I loved the entertainment, mile marker signs and the volunteers! From the drummers helping keep the beat up the looonnnnggggg hill, to the bagpiper, everything was wonderful. I took so many pictures that my camera battery died! This is definitely a must-do marathon and I thank you for arranging such gorgeous weather! Could have

Second Time Around

Andrea Page was an accomplished middle distance runner who had been heavily recruited for college. On her way to university, disaster struck. A horrific car accident left her with a broken neck, sternum and six ribs. She lost her scholarship and her dreams in an instant. Nearly 20 years passed since the accident before Andrea decided to begin running again. The Big Sur Marathon was her first attempt at this distance and she had mixed emotions. What was going to be a competitive attempt became more of an internal journey through pain, disappointment, and ultimately acceptance and a greater empathy towards all runners.

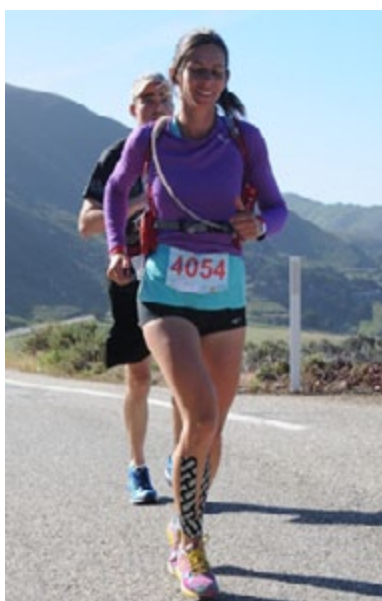

Andrea had been battling intense pain, possibly a stress fracture in her foot, in the weeks leading up to the marathon. After just two miles into the race the fear she had carried with her was replaced by pain and she found herself experimenting with "at least a hundred different awkward forms of running just to find one that might minimize the pain." Ironically, the hills that most runners dread were the only parts of the race that brought her physical comfort.

Around mile 19 she finally had to stop, stepping off the course to sit down where she faced the ocean, choking back her disappointment. "I had been there a few minutes when I felt a hand on my shoulder," said Andrea. "I looked up to see a lovely woman about my age, she said "you can do this, keep going." She had run off course just to offer me encouragement.

From a Monterey Herald article Andrea wrote, "As I got back into the race I began to look around more at the other runners. I read their shirts, some with inspirational quotes some with funny running quotes like "I thought they said RUM!" Many had pictures of family members and dates, so I could only imagine these were loved ones lost. My heart went out to them, they were experiencing a different kind of pain than I was, but pain nonetheless. As I looked at the people around me, I realized that the marathon is the great equalizer. Young and old, tall and short, fit and not-so-fit, we were all doing the same thing. Running a marathon. More than anything I wanted to know the story of the people around me."

Andrea finished her first-ever marathon with pride, pain and a greater appreciation for the 'family' of runners.

Running to Beat Alzheimer's
Michelle Terris of Weston, Florida lost her grandmother to Alzheimer's and now she's watching her mother battle this devastating disease. Determined to make a difference while her mother is still alive and aware, Michelle ran to raise funds for the John Douglas French Alzheimer's Foundation, collecting more than $10,000 through donations and sales of the Alzheimer's awareness t-shirts she designed. Michelle was excited that her father drove up from Malibu to be at the finish line. She says, "It was an AWESOME first class event! BSIM is a well-oiled machine. I cannot thank all of you enough!"

From ER Room to Big Sur

Just weeks after the birth of her daughter Rachel Burns lost her mother unexpectedly from an aneurism. She turned to running as a way to manage her grief. However, during this time she developed serious health issues including constant migraines, severe heart palpitations, dangerous weight loss, near kidney failure and ultimately was unable to walk. The doctors told her she was a week away from dying and if she hadn't had the cardiovascular adaptations that running creates she would have died weeks before.

While Rachel was recovering in ER she saw an advertisement in Runner's World magazine. "The pictures captivated me," she said. "Right there in my hospital bed, I vowed that one day I would run Big Sur." This year, Rachel was among the 300 Runner's World Challengers, fulfilling her dream. In her words:

"I'm still in awe of the incredible Big Sur Marathon. This specific race meant a lot to me. Four years ago, when I was pretty much on my death bed because of a grossly untreated and misdiagnosed thyroid condition, an advertisement for Big Sur in Runner's World Magazine encouraged me to find a way to get back into running just so I could run my first marathon, this marathon. And I achieved this goal. It was much tougher than I anticipated with the challenging hills I had to run, and with the string winds--which is saying a lot since I come from one of the windiest cities in the states. But all that was balanced by the sheer beauty of the course! Coming from the high plains of Texas, being able to see both beaches and mountains was an experience of its own.

"My thyroid had been more hyper than usual in the month leading up to the race, which made running the course harder than it normally would've been. My heart rate was much higher than usual and I was combating thyroid-related insomnia, headaches, and nausea. Still, I was determined to finish and to enjoy the journey, and that I did. I took it slower, and I made sure to take as many pictures as I could. There was a point where my IT band injury flared up something fierce and I was wondering if I would be able to finish within the 6 hour limit, but I pushed through and persevered on to finish in 5:51:16. This was a monumental victory for me! I overcame illness and injury and I crossed that finish line. I'm still incredibly proud of this accomplishment, and I hope to run Big Sur again, this time with a new personal best."

Rachel shares her complete Big Sur story in her blog, The Running Mormon.

Running for Rachael

Five years ago Big Sur resident Rachael Short was paralyzed in a car accident on Highway 1. The community has rallied around her to help raise funds for her 4-hour per day, 6 days per week physical therapy regimen. This year, a record number of 20 local runners comprising five marathon relay teams plus one marathoner ran in support of their beloved friend. Collectively they raised $33,000 ($3,000 over their goal) to help pay for new rehab equipment for Rachael. Way to go team!

3K Schools' Competition

On Saturday, April 25, over 2,500 Monterey County school children, along with 1,800 friends and families, toed the start line in Pacific Grove for the By the Bay 3K. The 3K fun run is one of several goal races of the JUST RUN® youth fitness program, designed to combat childhood obesity and promote healthy lifestyle choices.

Thirty-seven Monterey County schools took part in the annual event. The 3K Schools' Competition is sponsored by the Big Sur International Marathon and this year $13,650 was awarded to 20 schools.

The JUST RUN program, now in its eleventh year, is a free, website-based program open to schools and youth organizations in any country, state or locale. Offering incentives, numerous benefits, and a wealth of information, JUST RUN is easy to implement, turnkey, and fun program.

In the 2014 - 2015 school year, over 18,000 children, ages 5-12, in 166 school programs ran a cumulative half a million miles and performed 28,000 Just Deeds.
